

RESPONSIBLE GAMING:

- It is your responsibility to check gambling regulations in your jurisdiction.
- Gambling is a form of entertainment to enjoy in a responsible manner. If that is not the case for you or someone you care about; resources are available to help address problems. If gambling affects your family, work or personal situations, the following information can help you find assistance. Responsible gambling resources are available both throughout the United States and on a state-by-state basis. Sports betting operators in the United States offer resources and tools through their apps and websites to allow bettors to manage their gambling in advance or to find help if problems arise.
- The National Council on Problem Gambling (NCPG) can be reached by phone/text at 1-800-522-4700 (1-800-GAMBLER) or ncpgambling.org/chat. Help is available 24/7, and is always free and confidential
